

Great Night Sky

Posted originally on the Archive of Our Own at <http://archiveofourown.org/works/55708450>.

Rating:	Not Rated
Archive Warning:	Creator Chose Not To Use Archive Warnings
Fandom:	Original Work
Additional Tags:	RMS Titanic , Ocean liner , Sailing , Ship
Language:	English
Stats:	Published: 2024-05-05 Words: 170 Chapters: 1/1

Great Night Sky

by NN04

Titanic... one of the most famous and beautiful ships of all time, sailing through the night. Cutting effortlessly through the waves of the north Atlantic.

You look down at the ocean, but only see the reflection of the night sky.

The ocean is calm. So calm that even sailors who had been at sea for years, later said that it was the calmest water they'd seen in their entire lives.

If you were strolling the decks of Titanic that night you would probably be thinking... things couldn't possibly get any better than this.

You are wrong.

You look up at the sky.

There is no moon but in its place are thousands of bright stars, covering every inch of the sky above.

"The sea was so very still," a woman recalled. "So many stars."

"It made one feel grateful to be alive," said another passenger.

Even though the ship would strike the iceberg just fifteen minutes later, for the time being at least, the night was a blessing for everyone.

Please drop by the Archive and comment to let the creator know if you enjoyed their work!